What are the consequences of law replacing politics as a mechanism in conflict resolution? What role does each of them play in social contestations over sovereignty, security and justice? Conversely, what happens when law is suspended in the name of maintaining order? This course uses anthropological approaches to examine institutions, regimes and processes of law and order in contemporary Latin America. Focusing on three key concepts - sovereignty, security and justice - we will trace their meanings and practices across disjunctive political, legal, and cultural landscapes. A closer look at maximum-security prisons and militarized borders, police governance and discretion, spectral character of the law in marginal communities, and forms of popular justice will allow us to reconsider, among other things, shifting forms of statecraft and citizenship in the Western Hemisphere.

Throughout the course we will combine social theory with ethnographic material. Our case studies include the U.S.-Mexico border, where securitization has been accompanied by the escalation of violence and criminalization of migration; production of legal silence in Ecuador's prisons; the hybrid state in Jamaica and Brazil, where the government shares functions of law and punishment with criminal organizations; police governance in Argentina; citizen security and vigilante justice in rural Mexico and urban Bolivia; demobilization and reintegration of paramilitaries in Colombia; as well as transnational activism and legal interventions in post-conflict societies, among other topics. In addition to the readings and documentaries outlined in this syllabus, as a class we will visit Florida State Prison in Starke.

Required books: (in the order they are assigned)

Seri, Guillermina

Goldstein, Daniel

The books are available for 2-hour loan at Reserve Desk at UF Library West. All remaining class readings can be downloaded from Canvas site.

Assignments and Grading:

Student grades will be based on 100 points divided as follows: active participation in class discussions (26 points); weekly reading notes (24 points); weekly reflection paragraphs (14 points), prison essay (6 points), and a research project (30 points).

Attendance: Absence for reasons of illness, religious holiday or official university business is excused. Please inform me as early as possible and provide appropriate documentation. You are responsible to contact a classmate to obtain notes on the materials covered. You are allowed one unexcused absence. After the second unexcused absence your final grade will be reduced a full letter (A to B, A- to B-, etc). Students with four or more unexcused absences will automatically fail the course.

Participation (26 points)
This is a discussion-based class. Careful preparation for each of the seminars during Weeks 1-13 and informed contribution is expected. Always bring an electronic or print copy of that day’s readings to class, and come to the seminar with questions and ideas. To receive 2 points for the seminar your comments must demonstrate that you have done the assigned readings. Participation in discussions without showing your familiarity with the readings will be awarded a maximum of 1 point.

Weekly Reading Notes (24 points)
During Weeks 2-13, in preparation for class, you should read the assigned texts and write 1-2 pages of notes, double-spaced. These notes are informal and there is no correct way of writing them. It is expected that each of you will develop your own preferred style. The following are some guidelines to get started:

- Write down the main points, important quotes or phrases you would like to remember from the readings, and explain them in your own words;
- If you are puzzled by the text (or its parts), write your questions or list the arguments you disagree with and why;
- Use the material from the text to reflect on your research subject or on another topic that is of interest to you;
- Compare and contrast the text with other readings assigned for the class.
Reading notes are due on Canvas by the start of the seminar each week. You should also bring a print copy to class. You will get 2 points for each set of notes, if you complete the assignment in a timely manner and critically engage with the texts.

Weekly Reflection Paragraphs (14 points)
During Weeks 1-13 and for Week 16, after each class you should write a short paragraph, in which you reflect upon and critically appraise what you have learned during the week. Your reflections should be no shorter than half a page and no longer than one page, double-spaced. Use the following questions as guidelines:
- What new have I learned this week?
- What were the key concepts presented?
- Does this new information make sense to me?
- How might I apply this knowledge in a novel/different situation?
- Are they useful for my research project?
The reflection paragraph should be posted on Canvas by noon on Friday of the same week as the seminar. You do not need to bring a print copy to class.

Prison Essay (6 points)
In the week following the visit to Florida State Prison you should submit a 2-page, double-spaced, reflection piece, in which you discuss what impact this experience had on your understanding of carceral politics and practices. The short essay should be posted on Canvas. You do not need to bring a print copy to class.

Research Project (30 points)
During the first few weeks of the course you will choose a research question, which will guide your individual work. It must be directly related to the themes addressed in the course. When choosing your research question, you are encouraged to visit the Latin American Collection and browse through the UF library resources available online. All students will write an annotated bibliography of their chosen topic, which is worth a total of 10 points, and is due during your individual 15min conference, scheduled for the first week of November. Specific instructions for preparing the bibliography will be given in early October. You can then choose to either do a 15 min in-class presentation of your project on the last day of class (December 10) or write a 10-15-page long research paper due on the last day of class (December 10). The class presentation or the paper will earn you a maximum of 20 points.

Course Rules:

Prison Visit: Students will sign for one of two group visits to the Florida State Prison: On Thursday, October 2 at 1:15pm or on Tuesday, October 21 at 1:15pm. In order to enter the prison, you will need to clear a background check. Further instructions and travel arrangements will be discussed in class.

Written work: Please follow these style guidelines:
- Use 12-point Times New Roman or similar font;
- Your documents should be double-spaced, with 1 inch margins;
- Include your last name and page number in the header/footer of each page;
- Cite all sources consistently, using the style of your choice.

Late Work and Extensions: If you know you will not be able to turn in the assignment on time, please notify me as early as possible. Extensions must be arranged in advance. Assignments will be marked down for each day they are late.
Grading Scale:

A = 94 and above; A- = 90-93; B+ = 87-89; B = 83-86; B- = 79-82; C+ = 76-78; C = 72-75; C- = 69-71; D+ = 66-68; D = 62-65; D- = 59-61; E = 58 and below.

Grade Appeals: Grades will not be discussed via e-mail. If you have a question or a complaint about your grade, please contact me within 48 hours of posting to arrange a meeting time.

Academic Honesty: All work submitted by a student for a grade must be completed by that student and free from unauthorized assistance or deliberate misrepresentations. The penalty for plagiarism or cheating is a grade of zero points on the assignment in question; in such cases an incident form will also be sent to the Office of the Dean. If you have questions about what constitutes academic misconduct, please consult the UF Honor Code as well as the UF Policies on Academic Honesty, Student Rights and Responsibilities. These are available online at: https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/.

Accommodations for Disabilities: Students who need classroom accommodation or other reasonable modifications to complete assignments successfully and satisfy course criteria are encouraged to meet with the instructor as early in the course as possible. You will be asked to supply a letter from the Disability Resource Center to assist in planning accommodations. Contact the Disability Resource Center at http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc.

Health and Counseling:
Health and counseling services are available for students in the event personal problems threaten to hinder academic performance. You can contact UF Counseling and Wellness Center: http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc; 392-1575; and the University Police Department: 392-1111 or 9-1-1 for emergencies.

Course Evaluations:
Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/.

Please note: The Instructor may make minor adjustments to class readings or assignments during the course of the semester. Any modifications will be announced ahead of time.
