In addition to course management and the posting of readings and assignments, Canvas will be used as an additional contact interface between students and the instructor, beyond classroom interaction. Questions can be sent to the instructor through Canvas messaging or can be posted to the “General Questions” discussion board if appropriate. The student is responsible for checking Canvas regularly.

REQUIRED TEXT: There are two required books for the course. These books are available locally at the UF Bookstore (J. Wayne Reitz Union, 392-0194 ext. 128) and may be available at a discount from online retailers.

Coates, T. 2015. Between the World and Me. New York: Random House.

Additional required readings (journal articles, newspaper and magazine stories, and book chapters) as well as viewing and listening materials (films, television shows, video clips, and podcasts) will be made available electronically on the course e-learning site. Please alert Dr. Gravlee if you have a problem accessing the electronic files

PURPOSE OF COURSE: This course examines the concept of race from the perspectives of biological and cultural anthropology. The first part of the course focuses on patterns of human biological variation and critically examines how these patterns compare to conventional ideas about race. The second part traces the origins of the race concept and explores the links between race and science. The third part examines the experience and consequences of racism in the United States and in other societies.

COURSE GOALS AND/OR OBJECTIVES: By the end of the course, you should be able to:

1. Describe global patterns of human biological variation and identify their causes.
2. Articulate why the concept of race does not adequately describe human biological variation.
3. Examine the cultural construction of race in science and in everyday life.
4. Compare the American racial worldview to ways of viewing human diversity in other societies.
5. Discuss racism at multiple levels of analysis and from a cross-cultural perspective.
6. Articulate your own position within a racialized society

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: This course consists of 16 modules. Each module typically consists of a series of lectures, readings, in-class activities, and a quiz. This format varies slightly in some modules. There are two exams (one mid-term and one-final) and a final digital storytelling project that requires students to plan and reflect on their personal experience of race.

COURSE POLICIES:

POLICY ON LATE-WORK AND MAKEUP EXAMS

There will be no make-up exams or excused late-work except in the case of incapacitating illness or other university- approved absence (please see the University's policy on absences). In such cases, you must provide documentation from an appropriate authority to the instructor or TA as soon as possible. The Teaching Assistant (TA) may not give permission for make-up exams.

Late work will be accepted up to two calendar days beyond the due date but will automatically lose two letter-grades per day. In the case of excused absences, students will be permitted a reasonable amount of time to make up the material or activity, provided appropriate documentation has been supplied to the instructor or TA as soon as possible.

SYLLABUS CHANGE POLICY

This syllabus is a guide for the course and is subject to change at the instructor's discretion. Students should refer to Canvas for the latest updates to course assignments and readings.

UF POLICIES & STUDENTS SUPPORT

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACCOMMODATING STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. You must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the quizzes or exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT: Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>. Unless the instructor specifically allows collaboration, all work should be individual. Evidence of collusion (working with someone not connected to the class or assignment), plagiarism (use of someone else's published or unpublished words or design without acknowledgment) or multiple submissions (submitting the same paper in different courses) will activate the Department's and the University's procedures for dealing with academic dishonesty.

SEXUAL HARRASSMENT: It is the policy of The University of Florida to provide an educational and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment. In accordance with federal and state law, the University prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual harassment. Sex discrimination and sexual harassment will not be tolerated, and individuals who engage in such conduct will be subject to disciplinary action. The University encourages students, faculty, staff, and visitors to promptly report sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

Attendance and participation

Success in this class requires regular attendance and participation. Attendance and participation will be tracked through simple in-class quizzes and group participation activities. Classes will consist of lectures, viewing of media, class discussion, and group deliberation. To make the most of the class participation grade, students should complete assigned reading or activities prior to coming to class.

Film analyses (all students) and reflection essays (UF Writing Requirement only)

We will watch five films this semester. For each one, all students will respond to a series of prompts designed to help you analyze the film in terms of content and structure. This assignment has two purposes: (1) to help you think critically about the content of the film and (2) to develop your skills in analyzing the narrative structure of film, which in turn will lay a foundation for your digital storytelling project.

All students will complete written analysis of the following films:

- Race: The Power of An Illusion, Episode 1—The Difference Between Us (Module 2)
- Race: The Power of An Illusion, Episode 2—The Story We Tell (Module 5)
- Race: The Power of An Illusion, Episode 3—The House We Live In (Module 10)
- Slavery by Another Name (Module 9)
- Black in Latin America (Module 13)

Students in the UF Writing Requirement section (1D23) only will complete the following reflection essay assignments:

- Comparing Statements on Race (Module 8)
- From Jim Crow to Juan Crow (Module 9)
- Privilege Scavenger Hunt (Module 12)
- Applying Intersectionality (Module 14)
- Interview on Race (Module 16)

Quizzes

Module quizzes will be administered via Canvas and will consist of 15 multiple-choice and true-or-false questions. Quizzes are designed to test your mastery of content from a single module and will help to ensure that you are tracking ideas across the course.

Midterm exam

There will be one midterm exam, consisting entirely of short essay questions. The exam will cover material from assigned readings, lectures, films, and class discussions or activities. The midterm is designed to test your knowledge of content from several modules and asks you to synthesize that material. The midterm is online and will be scheduled during the class period on October 15. You will be able to access the questions for the midterm starting at 11:45 am EST and all answers must be submitted by 12:35 pm EST.

Final exam

Like the midterm, the final exam will cover material from assigned readings, lectures, films, and class discussions or activities in a short-essay format. It will require you to integrate material from all sections of the course. The final exam is online and is scheduled by the Registrar for December 12, 10:00 a.m. — 12:00 p.m. EST ONLY. You will be able to access the questions for the final exam starting at 10:00 am EST and all answers must be submitted by 12:00 am EST. It is advised that you start the final exam as soon as it opens at 10:00 am EST. There will be no makeup exams, except in the case of incapacitating illness or other university-approved absence (please see the University's policy on absences). In such cases, you must provide documentation from an appropriate authority Dr. Gravlee as soon as possible. The Grader may not give permission for make-up exams.

Digital storytelling project

A digital story, according to the Center for Digital Storytelling, is “a short, first person video-narrative created by combining recorded voice, still and moving images, and music or other sounds.” Digital storytelling is a creative way for you to share your own experiences, perspectives, and emotions with others. The purpose of this project is for you to reflect critically on your experience of race and racism and to convey that experience to others. Students will build the skills necessary to complete their digital story throughout the course and in Module 15.
