Course Description:
This course explores the history of the American South from the Civil War to the present day. We will discuss topics such as Reconstruction and its aftermath, the Jim Crow era, industrialization, the New Deal, World War II, and the Long Civil Rights Movement and many more. By examining a variety of perspectives in lecture and discussion, students will consider how these events to consider larger themes of southern exceptionalism, identity, and memory. Through interpreting primary documents and secondary texts, class discussions, and selected writing assignments this course encourages each student to further refine the analytical and communication skills that are critical to success in and beyond the History classroom.

Pete Daniel, Lost Revolutions: The South in the 1950s, ISBN: 978-0807848487

Course Expectations and Assignments
• Please have your syllabus on hand and be sure to keep up with all of the reading and writing deadlines.

• Although this should go without saying, please come prepared to engage with the course material from Week 1 to Week 16. You should conduct yourself professionally and respectfully both with me and your fellow students. That means show up on time, pay attention, and don’t treat class discussions like an Internet comments section.

• Guidelines for 2-page Source Analysis Papers: Complete the first two, due 1/23 and 2/1. Then complete three out of the four assigned for 2/8, 3/15, and 3/29. Each paper counts for 5% of your overall grade. Students may turn in the sixth paper (due 4/22) for a possible 5 points of extra credit provided that they turned in the first five papers on time. Each paper will ask you to consider selected primary and/or secondary sources and form an informed, historical argument about the chosen topic. All papers must be turned in on E-Learning on the designated due dates. Submissions that are over 1 week late will be given a zero.
• An in-class Midterm Exam covering all material up to that point will be given on February 27th.

• Book Review: You will be asked to submit a 3–4 page review of 1 scholarly monograph on Southern History by March 22nd. For this assignment, you may use either No Depression in Heaven or Lost Revolutions if you wish. If you wish to review another book than those two, you may do so as long as it meets my approval.

• Website Assignment: A 2–3 page analysis of one digital history project will be due by April 5th. More details to follow.

• Final Paper: Your final paper will use primary sources to analyze a particular historical topic, autobiographical work, or novel relating to Southern History. Further details on this assignment along with suggested topics will be given in advance of the Project Proposal, which is due February 25th. A hard copy of your final paper is due on April 30th before 5 PM.

Grading: History is a disciplined way of understanding our world as well as the record of the past. The goal is for you to learn to think historically by reading and writing historically. The assignments in this course are designed to assess your performance. They are also intended and designed to enhance your learning experience. There are no “busy work” assignments.

Attendance Policy

Attendance is central to your learning experience. In addition to showing up for lecture and section on time, be ready to articulate and defend your ideas, as well as to listen to and work with the ideas of others. Attendance in lecture may be taken on a random basis throughout the semester. Attendance in discussion section will be taken every day. You are permitted three unexcused absences without penalty. Six or more unexcused absences will result in failing grade for the class. I am not responsible for contacting students during the semester to apprise them of their attendance status; it is the responsibility of the students to keep a record of their absences. Religious holidays, UF athletic travel conflicts, and written explanations from a certified health professional are eligible for an excused absence when cleared with me ahead of time. See UF attendance policy at:

https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/attendance-policies/

Late Work and Make-up Policy

Unless stated otherwise, late papers will be penalized one-third-letter grade for each day they are late. If you know of an excused absence, contact your me as early as possible to make arrangements to turn in work ahead of time. Missed exams cannot be made up unless you have a university excused absence that you notify your professor of beforehand. If you have an unforeseen emergency, please contact me as soon as possible after your absence.

Students with Disabilities

Please do not hesitate to contact the instructor during the semester if you have any individual concerns or issues that need to be discussed. Students requesting classroom accommodations must first register with the Dean of Students Office (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting an accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Academic Honesty

The University, as well as your instructor, values and expects academic integrity. Ethical violations include cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, and academic misconduct (including turning in the work of others as your own and reusing old assignments). These will not be tolerated and will result in a failure of the assignment and the risk of an automatic failing grade in the course, and possible expulsion from UF. To avoid plagiarism, you must not copy the words, phrases, arguments, ideas, or conclusions of another person or source (including Internet sources) without properly crediting the person or source with both quotation marks and a footnote. Make sure that you properly cite direct quotations, paraphrased information, and facts that are not widely known. I will provide you with guidelines for proper citations and formatting prior to your submission of all written work, but you may contact me at any time for clarification. For more information on UF’s academic honesty policy, see: http://regulations.ufl.edu/wp-content/uploads/2018/06/4.040-1.pdf

For more information on how UF’s Judicial Affairs processes cases of plagiarism, see https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/appeal-process/
Student Evaluations
Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu.

Mobile Electronic Device Policy
Recent studies have shown that college students retain less information when they use laptops instead of pen and paper, and that open laptops are disruptive to nearby students. However, I recognize that many of you are more comfortable taking notes on a computer and often we will examine historical documents or projects that are digitized. Please do not abuse this privilege. I reserve the right to ban laptops if they become disruptive over the course of the semester. Please silence your cell phone prior to the start of class and do not text during class time.

Correspondence
I will send important course announcements and other correspondence to you both via your UF email account as well as the Canvas inbox. If you do not use this as your primary account, please make sure that you have your UF email forwarded to you and check your email regularly!
