Course Description:

This course introduces the concepts and methods used in the analysis of human skeletal remains from forensic and archaeological contexts. The skills learned and practiced in this course provide a strong foundation for more advanced studies in comparative anatomy, bioarchaeology, forensic anthropology, paleoanthropology, and paleopathology.

For Spring 2021, we'll be using a combination of teaching modalities. In the synchronous portion of the class, we will have a live 50-minute meeting 3 times per week (MWF) either virtually or in-person depending on the section you're registered for. Additional activities will be completed asynchronously. This is a three (3) credit course. You will have 3 contact hours and an additional 9-12 hours of preparation, review, and assessments each week.

Student Learning Objectives:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- identify whole and fragmentary human skeletal elements
- relate bone features to associated soft tissue
- distinguish between human and non-human bone
- estimate age, sex, ancestry, and stature of an individual
- discuss and evaluate osteological applications in fields such as comparative anatomy, bioarchaeology, forensic anthropology, paleoanthropology, and paleopathology.

Expectations of Time Required Weekly:

- PREPARATION (reading, videos and pre-quizzes) likely requires 3 hours
- LAB activities require 3 hours
- REVIEW activities require a minimum of 4 hours, and more is often required
- PRACTICAL QUIZ and review of feedback takes 1 hour
- SPECIAL PROJECTS (flip-thrus and final project) will add additional time requirements
- SUCCESS in this course requires a minimum of 12 hours of effort every week!

Synchronous Lab Classes (MWF)

We will meet 3 times a week (MWF) in the Osteology lab, either in-person or virtually depending on the section you are registered for. During these lab periods you will work with classmates and your instructor to solidify material learned from your lecture videos. Together, we will analyze the skeleton, work through activities, and conduct class discussions on important topics concerning human osteology. Your participation in these activities is vital for contextualizing course content and honing your osteology skills. Any necessary material for these activities will be available on the course Canvas page; students should be able to access these during class meetings.

Attendance Policy: Attendance during your scheduled meeting time is mandatory and essential for your success in this course. Absence without prior notification or communication will negatively impact your final course grade.

Practical Quizzes and Final Exam

Quizzes and the final exam will involve the identification of fragmentary skeletal remains and anatomical features as well as short-answer questions. Quizzes and the final exam are cumulative, completed independently, and submitted through Canvas. Students are not permitted to discuss the quizzes or final exam with any other student who has not already submitted their quiz or exam. Quizzes may not be retaken, but the lowest quiz score will be dropped at the end of the term. The grade for the final practical exam cannot be dropped.

These are timed quizzes, where you're given 25 minutes to answer 20 questions. You should allocate one minute on average to each question, with the additional five minutes provided to allow for loading the 3D models. Your goal is to develop the ability to quickly recognize diagnostic features and make an immediate determination of skeletal element(s) present, side, and distinguishing characteristics. This is a valuable skill for anyone who will be working with skeletal remains in their future professional career. We will post plenty of practice quizzes, so you'll get the hang of it pretty quickly!

Pre-Quizzes (Beginning of the Week Quiz)

Each week, prior to Monday lab sessions, students will complete and submit assigned "pre-quizzes" based on the readings and lecture videos for the upcoming week. These beginning of the week quizzes will include questions or activity sheets designed to help you exercise your understanding of the upcoming week's material. The Pre-Quiz results and self-corrections should also be added to your Osteology Notebook, which you will construct throughout the semester in order to provide yourself with an excellent resource to use in future osteological analyses. Please note that while students may study together before the Pre-Quiz, each student must complete all portions of each pre-quiz by themselves and submit their own work.

Osteology Notebook Guidelines

Each student in this course is responsible for compiling a notebook of their own labeled drawings of skeletal elements, activities and notes. Artistic skill is not important; you won't be graded on how nice your drawings are. The main purpose of drawing all skeletal elements is to encourage you to observe every little curve, crease, and bump on each bone. Once at the midterm and once at the end of the semester you will demonstrate progress on your notebook by sharing notebook "flip-thrus." These are short 2-3 minute videos that you can record using your cell phone, computer, or other camera. You'll have an opportunity to see what other people are doing, get ideas, and provide useful feedback on study techniques to your student colleagues. We'll post a few example flip-thru videos to get you started. Required notebook items are posted in Canvas and will be discussed in class.

Final Project

Students will complete a final project to share with the class in the week before final exams. This is intended to be a fun opportunity for you to create something that builds on all the knowledge that you have gained in this class, and there is no specific grading rubric. Acceptable formats for the final project include detailed infographics, learning modules, or original research proposals. We'll discuss possible options throughout the course. Your plan for the final project will be submitted for approval in February, so you'll have plenty of time to work on it.

Policy on Late and Make-up Work

Graded requirements that are submitted late due to a documented illness or emergency may be rescheduled; however, 48 hours prior notice should be given to the Primary Instructor, and documentation must be supplied. In the case of unexpected emergencies, the Instructor must be notified in advance, or as soon as possible thereafter, and the student should provide documentation immediately following the occurrence. Unexcused late submission of quizzes and the final exam are not allowed. Unexcused late submission of other graded assignments will be accepted for reduced credit (penalty is generally 20% per day).

Grade Return Timing

Online quizzes and the final exam are automatically graded, and feedback is provided immediately. Automated grading will be reviewed and updated to include partial credit within 48 hours. Notebook flip-thrus and the final project will be graded, and feedback provided within one week.

Policy on Respectful Use of Human Remains

We are privileged in this course to study the skeletal remains of individual humans. Lab policies are strictly enforced in both the virtual and face-to-face lab environment.

We will adhere to a strict policy of dignity and respect for the human remains that we study in both the face-to-face and virtual Osteology Labs.

- Your conduct in this class should demonstrate respect for human remains. This includes handling the material gently in the face-to-face lab. Respect for human remains is also demonstrated by the words that we use to describe the material with which we are working. This applies in both face-to-face and virtual environments.
- Images of human remains (2D or 3D) provided for this course via Canvas should NOT be downloaded to your personal devices. Lecture videos are available for streaming only. All other content with images of human remains (2D or 3D) should be accessed only via Canvas and should NOT be downloaded to your personal devices. The only exception to this rule is where we have indicated that a specific image is publicly available.
- No photography is permitted in the face-to-face Osteology Lab (TUR B304).
- No specimens are to leave the face-to-face Osteology Lab (TUR B304).
- Food and drink are prohibited in the laboratory.
- Visitors are not allowed in the lab at any time. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Other Course Policies:

- Honor Pledge: UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/student-conduct-code/) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.
- Contact Hours: "Contact Hours" refers to the hours per week in which students are in contact with the instructor, excluding office hours or other voluntary contact. The number of contact hours in this course equals the number of credits the course offers.
- Workload: As a Carnegie I, research-intensive university, UF is required by federal law to assign at least 2 hours of work outside of class for every contact hour. Work done in these hours may include reading/viewing assigned material and doing explicitly assigned individual or group work, as well as reviewing notes from class, synthesizing information in advance of exams or papers, and other self-determined study tasks.
- Accommodation for Student with Disabilities: Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. This class supports the needs of different learners; it is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs as early as possible in the semester.
- Course Evaluations: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available from the Gatorevals website \(Links to an external site.\). Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via the evaluation system. \(Links to an external site.\) Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at the public results website \(Links to an external site.\). • Statement Regarding Course Recording: Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back to and for use of enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate verbally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.
