Course Description, Objectives, and Goals: 3-credit course:

Advanced study of representative Modern Greek prose, poetry, and drama (in translation or in bilingual editions) from the time of Greece's independence (1830) to the present. The course combines the study of Modern Greek history and culture with readings, analysis, and discussion of major literary works.

Homework, readings, and paper assignments and also regular attendance count toward your final grade. Therefore, class attendance and participation are extremely important for you to make this class a success. Each student will also be asked to do individual presentations (TBA, and depending on class size). Presentations will focus on the literary work, on the author, and on the historical context.

Required Texts: course packets (pdfs) distributed by the instructor +

-Annie Liantas, Let Me Explain You. New York: Scribner, 2015.

-Christos Ikonou, Something Will Happen, You'll See. Translated by Karen Emmerich. Publisher: Archipelago, 2016. ISBN: 9780914671350.

-Menis Koumandareas, Their Smell Makes Me Want to Cry. Trans. P. F. Barbeito. Birmingham: Univ. of Birmingham, 2004.

Requirements and Grading Policies:

Final grade will be based on your overall work:

- | | | |
|-------------------------------------|-----|---|
| 1) paper assignments (20 pts. each) | 40% | (first 3-p. paper due Feb. 21)
(2 nd 5-p. paper due April 25) |
| 2) class attendance, participation | 30% | |
| 3) class presentations | 30% | |

Each student gives two short individual presentations: one on Greek news item (5 pts.) + one on the themes of a select Greek movie (10 pts.);

Each student also gives a third, longer presentation on a Greek literary book (15 pts.)

There is no final exam for this class.

Computation of grades:

Grading scale with total of 100 points

	A = 93-100	A- = 90-92.9

- Regular attendance and active participation in all aspects of the course are expected. If you accumulate more than 2 unauthorized absences, your final grade will be lowered by an entire letter grade. You are also strongly encouraged to attend the public lectures offered by the Classics Department and the Center for Greek Studies. Announcements will be made in class.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found in the online catalog at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

- Homeworks are due on the days scheduled. No credit is given for late assignments.
- Make-up assignments will only be given in cases of emergency. Notify your instructor asap.
- Accommodations for students with disabilities:

Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting accommodation.

- All students can avail themselves of the resources of UF-organized writing workshops and other learning resources. Students facing difficulties completing the course or who are in need of counseling or urgent help may call the on-campus counseling center (352-392-1575) or the student mental health center (352-392-1171).

- You are required to do your own work at all times and to abide by the university's Honor Pledge: <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/> . Any and all acts of academic dishonesty or plagiarism will be prosecuted to the fullest extent. Recording of lectures in this course is prohibited. Acts of disruptive behavior during class time will not be tolerated, either. No cell phone use is allowed during class. Any in-class use of the internet unrelated to the course materials is prohibited as well.

- Online Course Evaluation Process: Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu> . Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>
